Sam is an English painter, working and living in London with his subject matter ranging from grand hotels to sprawling gardens. Sam graduated from Central Saint Martins in 2012, but has only recently taken the plunge into full time painting, however, thanks to commissions from the likes of Claridges Hotel, The Four Seasons and Liberty London, he has gained traction immediately.

Sam regularly exhibits his work at the Gloucester Room Gallery in London and this mixture of gallery exhibitions and commissioned works has allowed Sam to explore his style deeper by depicting both natural environments and bold, urban interiors.

Outside of painting, Sam is an avid gardener currently undertaking a revamp of his own green space; a journey he has decided to bring to his Social Media channels also. Whilst his love of gardening has always been very much present in his work, showcasing this passion publicly though really allows his audience to get to know him as a person further.
